EXECUTIVE SNAPSHOT

Mitsubishi sits in the middle of the ranking with clear pockets of opportunity

The brand ranks 7th of 11 on total eNPS, 7.3 points below the market average — sales is the weaker internal KPI.

AFTER-SALES ENPS

78-8 vs market 87 | +3 vs Sales*Strengths

High customer satisfaction is being driven by staff friendliness and professionalism, the most consistently positive aspect across top dealers. After-sales already emerges as a stronger advocacy lever than sales, with the brand posting a rare positive Sales→After-Sales gap of +3.

Weaknesses

Sales eNPS is the weakest internal KPI, 11.7 points behind market. Waiting time, booking and complaint handling are the top frictions. Review volume is critically low — 84% of dealers have fewer than 50 reviews in six months.

i Main insight: protect the staff-side strengths, fix waiting / booking / complaint-handling pain points, and drive a higher volume of reviews across the network.

01 MARKET OVERVIEW

POINT 01

Scores become volatile

Low review count makes dealer-level eNPS swing more easily.

POINT 02

Volume must weight the story

Network conclusions should be interpreted with review volume in mind.

POINT 03

Coverage is still narrow

Only a small slice of the network supports deep dealer-level analysis.

POINT 04

More reviews signal trust

Higher review volume reinforces perceived reliability for consumers.

02 MITSUBISHI PERFORMANCE

After-sales beats sales by +3 points

BYD, Chery and Hyundai show clear after-sales penalties, while Mitsubishi runs the other way.

STAFF QUALITY IS THE PATTERN BEHIND ALMOST EVERY LEADER

SIGNAL 01

Staff quality leads

Staff Friendliness or Staff Professionalism appears among the top positive subcategories across the top 10 dealers.

SIGNAL 02

The branch experience matters

Positive perception is not only driven by staff: atmosphere, facilities and cleanliness repeatedly reinforce the overall customer experience.

SIGNAL 03

Service excellence is operational

The best dealers are praised for friendliness, professionalism, speed and attention, suggesting a repeatable service playbook rather than isolated success.

02 MITSUBISHI PERFORMANCE

Mitsubishi's Bottom 10 Dealers

Operational frictions are consistently reflected in lower customer scores, making these dealers clear priorities for improvement.

Note: Two cases in focus — DIPO - Puri (269 reviews, eNPS 86, Sales 63 vs After-Sales 94: largest internal gap) and Sardana - Gatsu (117 reviews, eNPS 76: the one Mitsubishi dealer appearing in the global bottom 10).

OPERATIONAL FRICTION IS THE COMMON PATTERN BEHIND WEAKER DEALER PERFORMANCE

BARRIER 01

Operational friction repeats

Time and Efficiency plus Service and Maintenance are the most recurrent negative categories across the lower-performing dealers.

BARRIER 02

Waiting is the visible pain point

Negative feedback often materializes around Waiting Time, suggesting that delays are one of the clearest signals customers use to judge the service experience.

BARRIER 03

Service recovery needs consistency

Complaint Handling appears as a recurring weak spot, showing that dissatisfaction can escalate when issues are not resolved clearly or quickly.

i

Key finding: The value of high review volume is clear — these dealers consistently perform above Mitsubishi's average, proving that activating more customer feedback can strengthen public perception.

03 DEALER DETAIL

Higher Review Volume, Higher eNPS

Although only 10 dealers exceed 100 reviews, they show an eNPS above Mitsubishi's overall average, reinforcing the link between stronger customer voice and better advocacy.

05 RECOMMENDATIONS

High-priority actions

Prioritised actions, tagged by evidence and operational area.

01

HIGH PRIORITY AFTER-SALES

Standardise booking and waiting-time handling

Create a common after-sales journey standard covering appointment confirmation, service start-time, delay updates and vehicle handover. Waiting time is the most frequently cited barrier across the bottom-performing dealers and represents the clearest quick-win for the network.

02

HIGH PRIORITY AFTER-SALES

Build a service recovery protocol

Define clear ownership, response timing and closure rules for complaints, especially when maintenance or waiting-time issues escalate. Complaint Handling appears as a recurring weak spot — dissatisfaction escalates when issues are not resolved clearly or quickly.

03

HIGH PRIORITY SALES

Close the Sales experience gap

Audit the sales journey around expectation setting, pricing transparency, staff professionalism and delivery follow-up. Sales eNPS (75) is 11.7 points behind market (87.1) and is Mitsubishi's weakest internal KPI — the only one running below after-sales.

04

MEDIUM PRIORITY AFTER-SALES

Export after-sales routines from strongest dealers

Use high-performing Mitsubishi dealers (eNPS 95+) to identify repeatable after-sales behaviours: reception, advisor communication, service updates and final handover. The gap between top and bottom dealers demonstrates that excellent service is achievable and scalable.

05 RECOMMENDATIONS

Medium-priority and longer-horizon actions

Actions to build structural capability and reinforce the network over the next 6–12 months.

05

MED PRIORITY BOTH

Codify Staff Friendliness and Professionalism

Turn the strongest positive driver into a network playbook: greeting, explanation, empathy, proactive updates and closing interaction. Staff quality (98% positive rate) is the brand's clearest strength — standardising it protects and amplifies what already works best.

06

MED PRIORITY BOTH

Create a review-generation learning loop

Standardise when and how dealers invite customers to leave feedback after positive service moments, while using review content to identify behaviours worth replicating. 84% of dealers have fewer than 50 reviews — closing this gap would significantly raise data quality and public visibility.

07

LONGER HORIZON AFTER-SALES

Turn Service and Maintenance into a quality programme

Translate maintenance-related complaints into operational checks: diagnosis explanation, repair status updates, delivery timing and post-service follow-up. With 40 negative mentions from 153 service interactions, this is the highest-volume friction category in the network.

08

LONGER HORIZON BOTH

Extend qualitative learning beyond top and bottom dealers

Analyse mid-performing dealers to understand which behaviours separate average experiences from excellent ones, and which practices can scale network-wide. Most of the network (147 of 159 dealers) operates below 100 reviews — understanding the middle is key to lifting the average.
